Monday 3rd November

5:15-6:30pm

Dr. Yasuhiro MAEHARA

(Adviser to the Governor, Bank of Japan)

Venue: R405 Conference Room, Lionel Robbins Building, LSE

Dr. Yasuhiro MAEHARA is Adviser to the Governor in the Policy Planning Office at the Bank of Japan.

In this special seminar, he will address the current state of the Japanese economy and its prospects. The topic is very timely as signs of recovery are gradually being observed; the most recent growth rate was higher than most of the developed countries. Is the economy finally returning to a solid recovery path? Having faced with persistent structural adjustment pressures, some idiosyncratic issues will be raised.
